

B.B. Hudspeth is funny, talented, and knowledgeable — the perfect combination for a celebrity impressionist who delights in transporting seniors back to the Golden Age of their youth. Within minutes, guests are tapping their feet and reflecting on wonderful entertainers of the past.

Part comedian, part historian, complete professional: B.B. combines the voices and tales of some of the most beloved characters of yesteryear and today, weaving messages of personal triumph through the history of such entertainment legends as Mel Blanc (Bugs Bunny), Jimmy Durante, and Walter Brennan. His high-energy shows are tailored to the specific audience and occasion, and are a mixture of hilarity and hopefulness that have brought happiness to thousands across the country.

B.B. is the creator of old west legend, Scrappy Higgins, who currently blazes the corporate trails inspiring and entertaining companies across the country. He is a member of the National Speakers Association with clients including bestselling author and radio personality Dave Ramsey, the Bonanza 50th Anniversary Friendship Convention, Lorne Greene's Ponderosa 50th Anniversary, and national senior events.

Book B.B. (and his cast of celebrity characters) and be rewarded with smiles, laughs, and unbridled joy.
